Product:

Nansulate Translucent PT

ISSUE:

A search for alternative housing to address the accommodation crisis in Northwest Australia has produced a stylish, functional display home which marks a new era in residential home building utilizing new technologies, such as our Nansulate PT coating.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

Our patented Nansulate Translucent PT coating was applied to internal steel walls clad with Gyprock to provide thermal insulation and benefit the integrity of the total wall assembly.

The innovative new home was built as part of a Western Australian State Government demonstration housing development. It is among a range of houses built with alternative design and construction techniques, which showcase energy efficient, affordable housing options.
